City of Mexico Admits Operation Of Thirty-Five Thousand Rebels

WASHINGTON RACE WAR STILL RAGES

THE CASUALTIES LAST NIGHT NETTED ONE WHITE MAN KILLED AND ANOTHER WOUNDED.

By the Associated Press
WASHINGTON, July 23.—Although there was sporadic firing in some districts early this morning, major casualties in last night's clashes between whites and negroes consisted of only one white man killed and another probably fatally wounded.

Scores of others were wounded in varying degrees. Despite the fact that the capital is an armed camp, the fourth night of the race warfare was less violent than it was Monday, but negroes were again the aggressors.

Two thousand United States troops, commanded by Major General W. G. Haan, will remain here until normal conditions are restored.

Pavement Pickups

The mayor of Ada, Judge Gary Kitchens, entered a fine of $8.75 in police court this morning against Wylie Wright on a charge of being drunk. The fine was paid.

In yesterday's paper it was stated in the building permits column that Mr. Joe Sprague had secured a permit to make $85 in repairs. It should have stated that the amount was $800.

The case of the state against J. P. Jones of Roff, on a charge of stealing a cultivator, was tried before Justice Joseph Anderson yesterday. Mr. Jones is a merchant at Roff and a cultivator belonging to another firm was in an alley near his place. The cultivator disappeared and Mr. Jones was accused of taking it. He was cleared of the charge and it is stated that he should never have been arrested.

The family of Postmaster J. W. Westbrook returned last night from Dallas, Tex. They had started on an auto trip to the Pacific coast but got so deep in the mud in Texas they were compelled to abandon the trip. Mr. Westbrook is waiting in Dallas until the mud dries up to the point where he can return with the car to Ada.

In yesterday's News a list of the stores represented at the morning services at the tabernacle was run. The list was furnished by the press committee of the revival and was not gotten up by the News. It was said the committee only named those stores who were represented at the services and all the stores that closed were not named for the reason that all were not represented.

A new grocery firm is entering business in Ada. It is Joe B. Prim and Son of Wynnewood. They have bought out the Simmons and Coker store on West Main street. Their announcement will appear in the News as soon as invoicing is completed. They are experienced grocery men and will make their presence felt in the business life of the community.

Justice Brown was called to 531 West Sixteenth street last night where he performed the ceremony uniting in marriage Miss Victoria Maxwell and Mr. Luther Monroe. They are two of the most popular young people of their community and have a host of friends who wish them a happy life together. They will live in Ada. A large crowd of their friends witnessed the ceremony.

A deal has been consummated whereby P. S. Case of the Merchants and Planters bank becomes the owner of the W. K. Chaney home at the end of South Broadway. The house is one of the finest if not the best in Ada. It is of solid brick with the roof, and has sixteen rooms. The consideration was $15,000. The house was built five years ago. It is said it could not be duplicated today for $25,000.

Ambassador Fletcher Does Not Think Murder a Cause For Invasion of Mexico

WASHINGTON, July 23.—Henry Fletcher, American Ambassador to Mexico, told the house rules committee Monday that since his appointment three years ago about fifty Americans had been killed in Mexico without a single prosecution being made by the Mexican authorities.

Ambassador Fletcher said he had not noticed any special anti-American feeling in Mexico, and explained that the presence of more American citizens there than other foreigners probably accounted for the greater number of outrages affecting Americans.

Reply to questions by Chairman Campbell, Ambassador Fletcher said withdrawal of recognition of the Carranza government by the United States would only increase the turmoil in the southern republic. He added that he did not know of any revolutionary leader capable of establishing a permanent government.

The ambassador was summoned before the committee in connection with a resolution introduced by Representative Gould, Republican of New York, proposing appointment of a joint congressional committee to investigate relations between this country and Mexico.

Mr. Fletcher repeatedly declined to express opinions upon conditions in the southern republic, insisting that he furnished only facts.

"Do you regard the situation in Mexico as improved in the last three years?" asked Chairman Campbell.

"Oh, yes" was the quick reply. "In what respect?"

"Columbus has not been raided," the ambassador answered.

When Chairman Campbell called attention to the recent murder of an American citizen and the maltreatment of his wife in Mexico, the ambassador said this did not involve relations between the United States and Mexico.

Pressed further as to improvement in conditions in Mexico, the ambassador said that among other things agencies by which the United States was better able to transact business in Mexico had been established during the past three years.

"Are the murders of American citizens as numerous as they were?" asked Chairman Campbell.

The ambassador replied that he would refer the committee to the list of Americans who had been killed.

"Many of those outrages," Fletcher said, "were committed by bandits. These bandits have been pursued, but it was difficult to tell how to get the men who had committed the murder."

Representations in each case, he said, had been made to the Carranza government, which in turn communicated with local authorities, who failed to take action.

"And you don't recall one prosecution?" asked Chairman Campbell.

"I don't at this time."

"What excuse has been given in official circles for lack of arrest or prosecution?"

"They usually explained the murderer had been committed by bandits, and that every effort would be made to run down the bandits."

Mexicans Favor Germany.

Fletcher said Mexican troops were very hostile to the United States and favorable to Germany.

Asked if Mexico committed any friendly act toward the Allies during the war, Fletcher said shipping had been maintained from Tampico, where rich oil fields were located.

While declaring that "deplorable conditions exist in certain districts" Fletcher said in the district controlled by Carranza, "wonderful submission" was manifested. The Carranza government, he added, is in control of most of the republic and practically all ports. He said the territory controlled by Villa was only that "up to which he is camped on that day," declaring Villa commanded a mobile force only.

The Mexican government, he said, has divided some land owned by Americans among Mexicans, but he added that "those cases have not been very frequent."

FIVE YOUNG LADIES FALL FROM TRUCKS

Last evening Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Price were leaving their home at 930 East Fourteenth enroute to the revival service with a truck loaded with young ladies who room at their home when a serious accident occurred. As Mr. Price drove out of his yard the truck careened in a ditch he was crossing and threw five of the girls to the ground. All of them were injured to a greater or less degree, two of them very painfully. Miss Lois Edens, of McAlester, and Miss Edith Hahn, of Morris, sustained serious injuries and the services of a physician were required.

BABY FOUND IN CAR OF BRICK

The sheriff's office was called from Sherman this morning and notified that a baby had been found in a car of brick that had arrived there last night. The baby seemed to have been about one day old and its head was cut off.

As soon as Sheriff Bob Duncan received the telephone message he got busy on the case to find out where the baby came from. The car went through Ada yesterday from Francis, where the freight train was made up. The brick were in a coal car. The sheriff found that the car had been loaded at Sapulpa and had been sent south from there. It is not known where the baby was placed aboard the car, but it had not been dead long when found.

J. R. BEVEL SEED CASE TRIED THIS MORNING

The case of the Mangelsdorf Seed Company against J. R. Bevel was tried before Justice H. J. Brown this morning. The plaintiff was represented by B. H. Epperson while King & Crawford represented the defendant.

The case grew out of a transaction for seed while Mr. Bevel was in business here last year. In June of last year Mr. Bevel contracted for some $166 worth of seed from the Mangelsdorf concern, the seed to be delivered in January of this year. In December he sold out and wrote the concern countermanding the order. The company sued Mr. Bevel, but the jury in the case decided in his favor and the case was thus settled.

"And you don't recall one prosecution?" asked Chairman Campbell.

"I don't at this time."

"What excuse has been given in official circles for lack of arrest or prosecution?"

TWENTY-FIVE DISTINCT BANDS OF BANDITS ENGAGED IN MURDER AND PLUNDER IS REPORT.

By the Associated Press
WASHINGTON, July 23.—According to a tabulated report just published in the City of Mexico, there are twenty-five distinct bands of rebels, with a strength of about thirty-five thousand men, now operating in the republic of Mexico.

Opposing these roving and plundering bands, Carranza has about sixty thousand men. The published report asserts that there is co-operation between the rebels in the north as well as in the south, and that they are systematically organized.

In the report it is shown that Villa and Angels have 5,100 men. It is said that these rebel leaders are preparing to go to Japan to secure arms and better equip themselves and their forces for military operations against the government.

It is said that the situation continues distressing along the border and that life and property are unsafe. Desperate bands of marauders continue to murder and plunder in all parts of the country beyond the Rio Grande, and the state department at Washington is informed almost daily of the murder of Americans who are attempting to make their homes in Mexico.

In the report it is shown that he had not noticed any special anti-American feeling in Mexico, and explained that the presence of more American citizens there than other foreigners probably accounted for the greater number of outrages affecting Americans.

Reply to questions by Chairman Campbell, Ambassador Fletcher said withdrawal of recognition of the Carranza government by the United States would only increase the turmoil in the southern republic. KATY ROOMING HOUSE IS CLOSED AGAIN

The county attorney's office made out a petition a few days ago to close the Katy rooming house on the east side of the Katy tracks. The grounds on which the petition was taken out was that the place was a disorderly house and a perpetual menace.

As soon as the owner of the house learned that the petition was being prepared he came to the prosecuting attorney and told him that he, the owner, would close the house voluntarily and keep it closed until a tenant could be secured that would be satisfactory to the public and to himself. The place is closed at present.

TOM KING HAS GONE TO K. C. BANK HEARING

Tom King, of the First National Bank, left yesterday afternoon for Kansas City, to represent Ada at the hearing to decide on locating a branch of the Federal Reserve bank at Oklahoma City. Mr. King was to stop at Oklahoma City on his way to join the other delegates who go from this state.

It is expected that a good sized delegation will go from over the state. Only the most important towns of course will send delegations, but Ada is considered as one of the best in financial and banking circles and this city is always asked to take part in movements of this kind. Mr. King is a man of considerable influence and no better banker could have been sent from here as a delegate to this hearing.

The ground surrounding the institution, the governor declared, is poor and entirely unsuited for agricultural development. Every building, he said, is in bad condition and the dormitories are in bad condition and poorly furnished.

The last legislature appropriated $85,000 for new buildings at Langston, but the governor said yesterday that he probably will oppose the spending of this money until the institution has been relocated.

Manager Summer Jones arranged another game of ball with Atoka this morning. The game will be played at Ada next Sunday afternoon. This will be the second game with Atoka this season, the first one being played July 4th and Atoka winning.

The manager of the Atoka team says they will have the same line-up as on the previous date and will come with the intention of walloping the local lads in the same manner as before. The Ada men don't believe it can be done and they are practicing up this week to make the game interesting from every view point.

Some few people have complained to the prosecuting attorney about permitting ball games to be played on Sunday in Ada. In discussing the matter with a reporter this morning Mr. Waddington stated that there was no law in this state against the Sunday games as the legislature some years ago repealed the law prohibiting Sunday sports. The prosecutor does not attend the Sunday games himself but says a great many people take their Sunday recreation that way and he has no authority to refuse them the practice.

VILLA TO DISBAND AND GO FOR AMMUNITION

By the Associated Press
EL PASO, Texas, July 23.—Francisco Villa and General Felipe Angeles have disbanded their forces until September, and have announced to their troops that they would go to Japan in an effort to obtain ammunition for the Villa movement. Americans who arrived last night from Chihuahua report.

Approved Afternoon Gowns

The long underslip of satin or foulard, used as a foundation for afternoon or evening dresses has proved a wonderful help in the summer wardrobe. The same slip serves for wear with long blouses, and the very popular smocks that just now hold the center of fashion's stage, as well as for the original and special overdress that caused it to be made. Dresses made with an underslip with various kinds of overdress are not outrivaled by any others for afternoon wear. Sometimes the underslip is plain, with overdress in a figured fabric and sometimes this order is reversed, as in the afternoon gown at the left of the two shown above.

Foulard and georgette make the most popular of all combinations for dresses of this kind. Here they appear in a long underslip of figured foulard with bodice and overskirt of plain georgette, laid in box plait and with a border of foulard about the bottom of the overdress. The georgette provides the sleeves, girdle and collar, but foulard accounts for the cuffs. There is a lace collar also and lace appears in the sleeves. Evidently the plain neck is passing and few will regret it for the plain neck finish is not becoming.

A later arrival in styles for afternoon frocks is shown at the right of the picture and it foreshadows something new for fall. This is a gown made of shot taffeta silk, and it suggests the "bustle dress" of two or three years ago. One material and cleverly managed drapery of it, are the means at hand with which the designer has succeeded in making an interesting and very pleasing dress. Bunchy drapery is caught at the right side below the hip, with ribbon in long loops and ends. Frills of lace set off the neck and make a pretty chemise, adding their daintiness to the sleeves. This model, modified a little and made up in light-colored silks, makes a lovely evening dress. One of these in blue taffeta shot with gray, has the silk draped at both sides of the skirt, a slip-over bodice (with Chinese collar) that extends below the waistline in front and forms a sash. This is tied in a buoyant bow at the back.

LLOYD GEORGE REPLIES TO CRITICS AND SAYS A JUST HEARING IS ASSURED EMPEROR.

By the Associated Press
LONDON, July 23.—Premier Lloyd George replied to his critics in the debate in the house of commons on the second reading of the German peace treaty and the Anglo-French convention. His recent announcement that the former German emperor would be tried before a tribunal in London, had created much discussion, and several members, including Lord Robert Cecil, expressed doubts as to the advisability of the trial being held in London. The selection of a neutral country for this purpose, it has been contended, would have been better.

The premier, in answer to this, said:

"What right have we to assume that any neutral country could design to be the scene of such a trial?"

The allies have sufficient confidence in this country that whosoever comes here for trial will receive a trial equal to the highest traditions of the British nation and there are none higher in the world.

"If war is to be abolished, it must be treated not as an honorable game with a prospect of personal glory, but as a crime. That is why we decided that the author of this war should be tried."

Another matter of extreme importance which came up for discussion was the Irish question and to this the premier devoted considerable time, with numerous interjections by Joseph Devlin, nationalist for Fall's division of Bel-

Were you ever disappointed with your Home-made Preserves?

Even the best recipe can't make allowances for the way sugar will harden into candy—or for the failure of a jelly to "jell".

Thousands of women are finding the ideal preserving syrup is a blend of $\frac{1}{2}$ Karo (Red Label) with $\frac{1}{2}$ sugar—instead of all sugar. Preserving done this way is always uniform—jelly that really "jells"—jam that is neither too syrupy nor too thick.

It gives you preserves with the natural fresh fruit flavor.

This fine, clear Karo Syrup has a natural affinity for the juices of the fruit. It blends the fruit with the sugar—makes your syrup rich and heavy, and holds jams and jellies firm and mellow, with not the slightest tendency to "candy" in the glass.

For Cooking, Baking and Candy Making Karo (Red Label) is used in millions of homes. In all cooking and baking recipes use Karo instead of sugar. It is sweet, of delicate flavor, and brings out the natural flavor of the food.

Oklahoma Will Produce 556,000 Bushels Peanuts This Year; Arkansas Million

By the Associated Press
WASHINGTON, July 23.—The south's peanut crop this year promises to be 1,000,000 bushels larger than last year's. Forecasts of the crop in the various states, just announced by the department of agriculture, which based its estimate on conditions existing July 1, show a total crop of 55,531,000 bushels, compared with 54,434,000 bushels last year.

Alabama leads as a producer, growing more than one-quarter of the country's output, but her crop this year shows a decrease of 1,700,000 bushels from last year's. All the other peanut-growing states east of the Mississippi river, excepting Florida, also show smaller crops this year, while the states west of the Mississippi—Arkansas, Oklahoma and Texas—show increases. Texas, with an increase of almost 5,000,000 bushels, makes this year's total crop for the country larger than last year's.

The country's peanut acreage this year is 1,738,400 acres, a decrease of 23 per cent from the acreage of last year. Arkansas was the only state showing an increase in acreage. Production forecasts of the various states follows:

Virginia 4,795,000 bushels

North Carolina 5,498,000 bushels

South Carolina 829,000 bushels

Georgia 9,379,000 bushels

Florida 5,339,000 bushels

Tennessee 400,000 bushels

Alabama 14,708,000 bushels

Mississippi 117,000 bushels

Louisiana 81,000 bushels

Texas 12,478,000 bushels

Oklahoma 556,000 bushels

The Covenanter Letters

Being a Discussion of the Covenant of the League of Nations by Eminent Men.

ARTICLES XVII-XX.

Nations Outside League.

The object of the League is to prevent war, not only among its members, but also by, against or between nations outside of the Covenant; and Article XVII is aimed at such cases. The outside nation engaged in a dispute, even if of a character that threatens war, is not treated as an outlaw, but is offered for the purpose of the dispute the benefits as well as the obligations of membership in the League. If it accepts the invitation it obtains the same protection as a member from attack by its adversary whether within or without the League; and if there is a voluntary submission to arbitration it has the same right as a member to demand that the award be carried out. This is certainly treating the outsider fairly.

On the other hand the outsider, whether it accepts the invitation or not, is restrained from attacking a member by the same penalties that would be applied to a signer of the Covenant. In other words the members agree to help one another against attacks from outside as well as against those from one of their own number. They could hardly do less.

When the controversy is between two outsiders both are invited to join the League for the purpose of the dispute, and if either of them accept, the position is exactly that already described, because the one accepting has for this purpose the standing of a member of the League. If both refuse the obligations of membership cannot be directly applied, but hostilities are to be prevented, and the Council is authorized to take such measures and make such recommendations as will prevent them. Since the Council has no forces under its orders and cannot command those of its members without their consent, the measures it can take must be of a diplomatic nature, to be followed by recommendations for the use of force if necessary. But practically this will not happen, because it is highly unlikely that both of the outside nations desire war, and the one that does not will certainly accept the invitation of the League.

Restraining Influences.

This method of preventing war with or among non-members is both fair and ingenious. They are subjected to the penalties and are offered the benefits of membership, except that a temporary membership gives no consultative voice in the general management of the League. Hence there will be a decided advantage in entering the League permanently and an inducement for every trustworthy nation to do so, until it becomes an association of all truly self-governing countries to maintain the peace of the world. Hence also the power of expulsion, conferred upon the Council by the last clause of Article XVI, becomes a serious penalty that will go far to secure the carrying out of arbitral awards and the observance of all the other obligations of the Covenant.

No Secret Treaties.

The object of Article XVIII requiring treaties or engagements to be registered with the Secretariat and published is simply to prevent secret treaties and especially secret military alliances. It is wholly in accord with our national traditions.

Reconsideration of Treaties.

Article XIX, which authorizes the Assembly to advise the reconsideration of treaties that have become inapplicable and the consideration of international conditions endangering the peace of the world, needs no explanation. It gives as a deed of land is often delivered at the registry of deeds.

Telephone No. 4.

THE PRESIDENT BEFORE THE SENATE.

President Wilson was under no constitutional command and bound by no moral obligation to explain or defend before the senate his course in the peace conference or his part in creating the League of Nations. Neither was there need, as he told the senators, to report to them what was attempted and done at Paris. Yet, he has given to the senate—and through the senate to the people—an eloquent and convincing argument and justification for this country's continuance in an international partnership to preserve the peace that has been won after four years of sacrifices, starvation and slaughter.

If, as his critics contend, he said nothing new upon his subject, certainly all that he uttered was true. The business of keeping the peace belongs to every nation whose interests and safety will be threatened by war; that is, to every nation of the world. And in fulfilling this duty the nations can have hereafter no success, acting severally, than they have had heretofore. They must be brought into concert; into a coalition that will pledge their moral and material resources to the common task of safeguarding themselves by protecting their neighbors.

The president was under no necessity of proving the obvious. The senate knows that a League of Nations is imperative; that it is an inherent, inseparable part of the arrangement and maintenance of peace. There are those who are opposing the League in spite of their knowledge. They pretend to see in it obstacles and perils. It was doubtless to such that the president addressed at least one sentence of his address: "Statesmen might see difficulties but the people could see none and could brook no denial."

If Republican objectors and cavillers have not been enlightened by what President Wilson has said it is only because they have closed their eyes to the light. The people understand his language and share his hopes and approve his purposes. They demand the League of Nations. The senate cannot deny them.

DYSPEPTIC MONKEYDOM PESSIMISTS.

It has been said that immorality is the curse of the race; that rum is ruining the people; that neglect of child-life is undermining society; that contempt for law is destroying the state; and now comes one D. B. C. Keister, a noted specialist, who declared before a congress of scientists at Philadelphia that the United States is now second only to China in the use of opium, and that there is danger from our use of narcotics of the people degenerating into something worse than monkeydom.

Mr. Keister and his high-brow followers can go back to monkeydom if they want to, but we are just going to keep right on keeping on, and in due course of time expect to become a pretty decent sort of man, one who writes cheerful things instead of damning everybody and everything in sight just because the universe and the people are not perfect. If anybody goes back to monkeydom it will be for two reasons—one because he sprang from monkeydom somewhere back in the dim and distant past, and the other because he has scrambled brains of the monkey brand. Some may have monkey brains, some fatty degeneration of the think-tank, and still others of the grapenut variety. It takes all kinds of people to make a world, including bilious scientists and those who predict all sorts of dire calamities for their fellow men for no other reason than their own livers are disordered and need shaking up.

There are many destructive agencies, such as immorality, rum, opium, social frivolity and green-goggled specialists who can see nothing about the apple but the rotten speck where the worm took a bite. In the meantime, we should all go right on following the even tenor of our way, growing in grace, advancing in educational enlightenment, increasing in wealth, adding to our peace of mind and contentment, conscious that our civilization is growing better all the time.

Evils there are, and the best cure for them is to cultivate the good, the true and the beautiful. Sending the country to the bad is an enterprise the pessimists undertake with habitual periodicy, but we always find upon investigation that as a matter of fact instead of tending toward monkeydom we are improving as a race and getting to be better men and better women every year.

Maybe "President" De Valera of Ireland imagines that if he stays a while in New York he may be elected president of the United States.

Senator Kenyon thinks the packers are propagandizing everywhere. But it is all nullified by the meat markets.

The State Press

What's the Use?
Miami News: The Ada News gives us a dissertation on "Dog Days" that would be rather enlightening were it not for the changed conditions in the country.

There is no inducement for a fellow to get dog bite, snake bite or any other kind of old bite in these days of protracted drought, when even the camel's tongue is hanging out.

Scat!

Miami News: Austria and Hungary, it seems, are cleaning house and we can only wonder how long it will be until Russia follows this lead. Russia is in a sad plight. Lenin and Trotsky seem to have aroused enough of the people of that country—those who are propping through plunder and pillage—to make their tenure a little more secure than were Karolyi and Bela Kun.

Karolyi attempted flight from Austria some time ago, but was captured in Austria and returned to Hungary, where he was held a prisoner until his final escape to Italy on his way to the United States. Bela Kun has been deposed by Austria, and the situation seems to be brightening just a bit in that country as well as Hungary.

But we do not need Karolyi in America. We have too many of his breed here already. Agitators are to be found everywhere, even in the United States senate, and the line should be drawn somewhere.

MORE INFORMATION ON SCHOOL FIGHT

In regard to the county school superintendent's fight in Okmulgee county which was spoken of in Monday's paper, the attorney general ruled that the action of the county commissioners was illegal and that R. G. Creekmore, the present county superintendent should hold office until his successor was qualified.

It was understood N. O. Hopkins, superintendent-elect, had filed his papers with the commissioners, but they had been received two days late. Mr. Hopkins was in the sanitarium at Rochester, Minn. It is believed that Mr. Hopkins' papers will be accepted and that he will be declared the county superintendent as soon as he returns to Okmulgee.

Both Creekmore and Campbell were serving as county superintendent Saturday and both claiming the office. Hopkins, the superintendent, is a republican.

Union Car Men Win Strike In Tulsa-Sapulpa

TULSA, Okla., July 23.—Strikers on the Oklahoma Union Railway company lines won a complete victory last night over the company officials when the stockholders of the traction company met and agreed at 12 o'clock to grant the demands of the men for recognition of their union.

No demand for higher wages was made by the striking interurban trainmen. The recognition of the union was the sole issue of the strike.

Tides of the Ocean.

The incoming and the outgoing of the tides is caused by the gravitational influence of the moon. The moon, so to speak, draws or lifts the water from the depths on the same principle that a pump lifts water. And as with a pump, the water rushes in to fill the space left; so the shallow water near shore rushes out to fill the extra space caused by rising of the water, on the principle that water seeks its own level.

OLD NEWSPAPERS.

Are a most convenient thing to have around the house. They are good for wrapping bundles, starting fires and a hundred and one other things. The News gets hundreds of exchanges, and after these are examined here in the office they are tied into bundles of about a hundred and sold for five cents the bundle. Many times you will find a month's good reading in one of these bundles. Come in and get one.

SIDELIGHTS ON THE REVIVAL

There were a thousand people at the morning service yesterday.

Choir leader Wm. J. Ramsay was all dressed up last night. His wife seems to have quite an influence over him.

Miss Rosamonde Ramsay, daughter of the choir director, played the accompaniments at the service last night. She has been assisting her father in the meetings for several years and is an accomplished musician.

Some man went to the expense of having his hair cut yesterday afternoon. He was told by Rev. G. W. Beck last night that such expense was unnecessary—that the preacher would not only sing his hair but would likely take his hide off with it. The preacher came as near it as anybody could.

About half the population of Ada was present at the service last night. It is doubtful if one out of ten of these families locked the doors of their homes when they went away. It is a fine recommendation of the city that the people here don't have to fear thieves and burglars.

Songs sung at the service last night were No. 18 in the "Hymns of the Cross," the song being "To the Colors." No. 26 was also sung, "The Book of Ages," and No. 41, "His Saving Grace." Another song was sung named "Time After Time." Someone suggested that since the service last night concerned darning the song ought to be called "Round After Round," instead of "Time After Time."

The crowd last night was the largest yet under the big tabernacle. Hundreds could not gain admission and stood and sat on the ground around the building. There must have been 4500 people at the service last night. Mr. Ramsay said one night recently to Mr. Ham that he would run his crowds away if he did not stop preaching such rebuking sermons. Instead of diminishing the crowds are growing larger at each service.

Quite a difference is noted in the place the people sit now and at the time the meeting first started two weeks ago. Then every body tried to get away from the front seats and it was almost impossible to get singers in the choir. Now the front seats are the first to fill up and the choir will not hold the number who go there. Another thing noticed is that many of the people who occupied front seats when the meeting first opened have quit coming to the front seats. Probably the preacher stepped on them too strongly.

MAYOR FINES LAD
FOR STEALING SHOES

EDWARD Deaton 16 years old, was fined $14.75 by Mayor Kitchens this morning on a charge of stealing shoes. It was the first time the boy had appeared in court and the mayor told him he would give the smallest fine possible. The boy said his father lives near Francis and the boy was placed in jail until his father could be communicated with.

Deaton boarded at the Byrd hotel. He took a pair of shoes from another boarder's room Monday. The shoes were missed and Deaton was suspected. When approached on the subject by the officers he admitted his guilt and was placed under arrest. He told the mayor he simply needed shoes and had no money with which to buy them, therefore he took them.

The kind-hearted mayor gave the boy a fatherly lecture on his conduct. He told Deaton that he would much rather take the money out of his pocket and give it to him to buy shoes than to hear he had stolen them. The mayor told the boy further that thieves were the worst criminals he had to contend with and he hoped the boy would never come before him again on such a charge.

We receive shoes every day from all parts of the state to be repaired. There is a reason—W. J. Hughes' Electric Shoe Shop, 121 South Broadway. 7-23-2t

BIG CELEBRATION AT STRATFORD TOMORROW

Tomorrow is the opening day of the big three days' picnic at Stratford. The picnic is given by the Woodmen of the World, Stratford Camp. The Log Rolling and Victory celebration will continue for three days.

Among the attractions will be an airman who will fly all three days. This is something new at Stratford and the people there of course will be present in large numbers. It is said many of the people of Garvin county have not only never seen an airplane, but many have never seen a train and a few know of Fords only by reputation. A class of 60 new members will be initiated into Woodcraft Friday night, the crack team from Norman putting on the work. There will be all manner of entertainment and people from Ada and Pontotoc county are cordially invited to be present. The celebration will last through Saturday night.

Federation of Labor.
A local of the American Federation of Labor has been organized in Ada and will hold regular meetings on Wednesday night of each week at 8:30. For the present meetings will be held at Moose Hall on Townsend between Main and Twelfth. All members urged to be present next Wednesday night.

Just to say he was a "marine" means that he went "over the top" in all the big shows over there, however, he says he was a "lucky guy" and came through without a single wound. Mr. Rucker will leave tonight for El Paso, Tex., where he will be employed by the T. & P. railroad.

THE TOWN GOSSIP

By MILTON LESTER

HE WAS sitting.
IN FRONT of the hotel.
AND SO was I.
AND I reckon.
THAT HE thought.
I WAS another traveling man.
AND AFTER a while.
HE THREW his cigar.
INTO THE gutter.
AND UNCROSSED his legs.
AND LOOKED at me.
AND SAID:
"I'LL BE blanked."
"IF THIS isn't."
"THE DEADDEST town."
"I'VE EVER seen."
"IN MY life."
"AND IF I lived here."
"I'D GO crazy."
"AND IT'S so quite."
"THAT a cemetery."
"WOULD LOOK like Broadway."
"COMPARED TO it."
"AND I'LL be glad."
"WHEN I can move on."
"TOMORROW."
AND I kept quiet.

AND DIDN'T say anything.
BUT I thought.
TO MYSELF.
THAT THAT guy.
MUST HAVE come.
FROM SOME big city.
LIKE NEW York.
OR CHICAGO.
SO DIRECTLY.
I WENT up to the desk.
AND ASKED the clerk.
IF HE knew.
THE NAME of that man.
WHO'D BEEN talking.
AND HE looked.
ON THE register.
AND TOLD me.
AND I asked him.
WHERE THE fellow came from.
AND HE looked again.
AND SAID:
"ROFF."
AND I went out.
TO LOOK for that guy again.
BUT I never found him.

"The Morning After The Night Before"

Rather an uncommon phrase to use in bank advertising, eh?

We agree with you, but it's applicable just the same.

That "morning after the night before" feeling comes to the man who has wasted his substance in riotous living, when an opportunity for a real investment comes his way and he realizes he has "blown" the funds necessary for its acceptance.

BUNGALOW IDEAL FOR SMALL FAMILY

Convenient Arrangement Appeals to the Housekeeper.

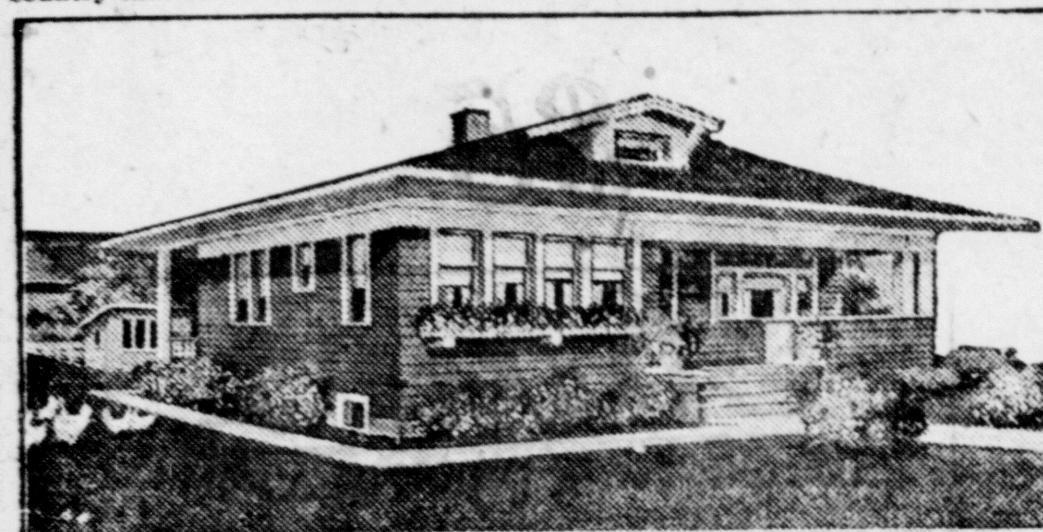

ECONOMICAL IN MANY WAYS

Design Shows Comfortable Home That Can Be Erected and Maintained at Comparatively Small Cost.

By WILLIAM A. RADFORD.

Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF COST on all subjects relating to the subject of building, for the readers of this paper. On account of his wide experience as Editor, Author and Manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority on all these subjects. Address all inquiries to William A. Radford, No. 1827 Prairie Avenue, Chicago, Ill., and only enclose three-cent stamp for reply.

Planning a home now is much like buying a Liberty bond—it not only is a patriotic duty, but it is the best investment any man with a family can make. The government is urging everyone to build so that the labor of the country that has been released through the cessation of hostilities may be employed. At the same time, buying a home means providing against the future, which is worth while, no matter what sacrifices have to be made.

But leaving out the considerations of patriotism and being provident, there are advantages in owning a home that more than balance any slight privation that is required to secure it. The home owner is the best man in his community. He is stable and is regarded as a real part of the life of his home town. He is the substantial man of the neighborhood in which he lives, not merely a floater, who has no ties to bind him to the social and business life that is around him.

Buying a home might be compared with going in swimming for the first time in the season. The initial plunge is dreaded; but after it has been made, how invigorating and satisfying is the water. Making up the mind to buy a home is the hardest part of becoming everything that the word "home" implies.

Plans May Be Altered.

The plans for this bungalow are susceptible to almost any change that the home builder desires. While no provision is made for a fireplace, one can easily be added. Also it may be that the lot is so located that a different exposure is wanted. In this case, the plans may be reversed and the living and dining rooms and kitchen placed where the bedrooms are.

Consultation with the local builder and lumber dealer will quickly reveal the cost of this bungalow. Also valuable advice as to the kinds of materials and equipment to be used in this bungalow can be secured from them.

As was said at the beginning, owning a home is the best investment a man who is at the head of a family can make. And the person who decides to make that investment will find the banks, the real estate men and the owner of one. When the initial payment is made and the owner has taken possession, he is repaid for his action so many times that he cannot understand why he had not taken the plunge before.

A home is within the easy reach of every man who has any sort of a standing in his community. Banks would rather loan money to the home builder of their town than to almost any other individual.

No Waste in Modern Homes. Modern homes are designed so that there is no waste space in them. Every nook is utilized and floor plans are made with the idea in mind that it is not the number of rooms, but the conveniences and comfort the rooms will afford that is of the most importance.

The modern bungalow is an exemplification of this idea. "A small house with a great many large rooms in it" always has been the ideal of the housekeeper. While this is obviously impossible, the bungalow comes near to realizing this ideal. There are few rooms but they are large and being all on the same floor give an idea of spaciousness.

The accompanying illustration shows a five-room bungalow of the latest design. It will suit the requirements of a small family; has not a large number of rooms to be taken care of, and provides for every modern convenience and comfort. The bungalow is suitable for any community, city, town or country.

The accompanying floor plan shows how conveniently the rooms are arranged and the comforts that have been provided. The house contains five rooms, living room, dining room, kitchen and two bedrooms and bath.

The Riches of Friendship.

We are rich when we have friends, real friends who love us, friends who see our faults and still care for us in spite of them. A palace would not be a home without such a friend in it. Money buys many counterfeit friends, but no real ones. No one could be poorer than the man who has everything but friends, and the one whose life is crewed with friendship is rich enough.—Girl's Companion.

TULSA COUNTY ROADS STANDARD FOR STATE

By News' Special Service

The plan also provides for a basement under the whole house.

Outdoor Sitting Room.

The house is 30 by 44 feet, including the front porch projection. The living room is 12 feet 9 inches by 17 feet. Opening off it is the front porch, 17 feet. This can easily be screened in the summer, and makes a commodious outdoor sitting room. To the rear of the living room is the dining room, 12 feet 6 inches by 17 feet. Back of the dining room is the kitchen, 10 by 11 feet. One end is cut off for the pantry, while a door at the other leads to the back porch, 6 feet 6 inches by 12 feet.

A door from the living room leads into a hall, at each end of which are bedrooms, while the bath is in the center. The front bedroom is 12 feet 9 inches by 13 feet and extends to a line with the front of the porch, making an exceptionally attractive sleeping room. The back bedroom is 12 feet 6 inches by 12 feet 9 inches. A good-sized closet adjoins each bedroom.

The basement is divided into two sections, one 17 feet 3 inches by 27 feet, and the other 12 feet 9 inches, by 25 feet. In the larger of the two basement rooms is the chimney, so located that it rises through one corner of the kitchen.

This bungalow is economical in all ways, cost of construction, cost of upkeep and if modern conveniences are installed will make an exceptionally comfortable home—a house that has

KAY COUNTY CAMPAIGN FOR GOOD ROADS ON

By the Associated Press

PONCA CITY, Okla., July 23.—Good roads advocates are waging a strenuous campaign for the $1,500,000 bond issue which the voters of Kay county are asked to approve in a special election to be held August 5.

Present plans call for the building of 1300 miles of hard surfaced roads at a cost of $2,000,000, of which $500,000 is expected to be federal aid money. The proposed bonds would run for a period of 25 years bearing 5 per cent interest.

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 23.—The Oklahoma wheat crop will fall 15,000,000 bushels short of the original estimate of the federal bureau here, according to Grain Inspector M. I. Jordan. Premature harvest, necessitated by heavy moisture and a consequent heavy growth of straw is the reason given by Jordan in a statement.

It will pay you to watch the Want Ad columns of the News.

MAKE THE PENNIES BIGGER

When James Buchanan was president and tall beaver hats were in vogue; when gentlemen wore broad cravats and ladies wore hoop skirts the pennies they tossed to children were as big as quarters. But the cart-wheel coppers your grandfather got for keeping his lace collar clean were not as big in buying power as the pennies of today.

A penny then might buy a pastry, or ten of them take one to the Fair, but your great-aunt and great uncle couldn't have gone to a movie at any price.

Your great-gran'ther may have driven the fastest horse in the country and paid a tidy sum for it. But the price of a stable of thoroughbreds would not have bought him a flivver.

Sixty years ago the ladies could go shopping for dry goods and buy silks that would make you green with envy, linens that were linens and broadcloths that beggar description. But what their favorite store did not have usually got along without.

You can pick up your daily newspaper and in fifteen minutes you can know what the different shops are offering in fabrics, patterns, varieties and qualities that great-grandmother never dreamed could be gathered together under any conditions.

Times have changed, and so have merchandise and business methods. One of the influences that has helped to bring about so much of change, that has helped to multiply opportunities and increased the spending size of our pennies is advertising.

Every merchant, every manufacturer knows that advertising materially reduces selling costs by increasing the demand for and the distribution of the products of hundreds of thousands of mills. Indeed many of the things we count today as necessities or simple luxuries could not be made and sold at their reasonable prices except as advertising has created a broad market for them, making millions of sales at little prices and little profits.

And so you owe very much to advertising. You owe much to the people of yesterday who have read and been influenced by past advertising and so have made possible the economies and varieties and wide distribution of merchandise that you enjoy.

You owe present advertising a thorough reading. A greater familiarity with advertising, with advertisers and advertised merchandise makes continually for the increasing size of your pennies.

MR. HAM SAYS THE DANCE IS THE ISSUE

articles in which the dance was branded as the most evil and most dangerous practice of modern times. The speaker read the following quotation from the New York Sun, said to be the most "conservative" daily paper in America:

"Far from being 'new,' these dances are a reversion to the grossest practices of savage men. They are based on the primitive motive of the orgies enjoyed by the aboriginal inhabitants of every uncivilized land. Their movements and steps have been described with exactitude by the explorers and missionaries to those people we are accustomed to regard as inferior. The culminating extravagances are identical with the ends sought by the benighted heathen, save only that the heathen is redeemed by a frankness of terminology and conduct that has not yet been attained here."

"Preserved through all the ages by the habitudes of low resorts, by strumpets and their patrons, these dances have never lost their original reason for existence or been deprived of their appeal to the profane and the debased. Today, whether practiced in the lowest brothel or in surroundings more expensive, they retain without change their original meaning and are unmodified in their effect. That persons of respectable antecedents have indiscriminately endured their introduction in places where decorum guards chastity has not changed their nature or obscured their menace."

The Voice of Physicians.

"Dr. Frank Richardson, speaking before the Homeopathic Medical Association of New Jersey, said: 'Modern dance halls are the modern nurseries of the divorce courts, the training ships of prostitution and the graduating schools of infamy. Our young people's dances defy des-the dance as wrecking the constitutions of our girls and women.

"Eighth—Dancing masters say two-thirds of the girls ruined fall through the influence of the dance.

"Ninth—Matrons of rescue homes and rescue workers say seven-tenths of the girls they deal with have gone down through the influence of the dance—and that the increase of the white slave traffic is caused by the familiarity of the sexes in the dance.

"Tenth—Such periodicals as Collier's, Literary Digest, New York Sun and Puck speak out against it as (1) Putting difficulties in the way of reform; (2) As preserved through all the ages by habitues of low resorts and dives, never losing its original reason for existence, nor deprived of its appeal to the profligate and debased instincts, retaining without change its original meaning and unmodified in effect. Puck says, (3) The dance is the road to the bawdy house, disease, insanity, suicide, the potter's field and HELL.

"Eleventh—Evangelists and Christian workers find that the bondage of the dances is worse than the bondage of drink—turning its devotees away from Christ and eternal life.

"Twelfth—Hospital records tell of thousands of mothers and innocent babies whose physical lives are wrecked because of it."

Logical Deductions Made.

"First—Just the dance for amusement and pleasure indulged in by the opposite sexes intermingled originated in sex impulse and was indulged in as a prelude to sexual indulgence in the vile worship of the pagans; its fascination today is still due to sex impulse and its appeal is to those in whom the animal dominates the intellectual and spiritual.

"Second—As a people become rich they grow idle, become gluttonous, drunken, self-indulgent and those indulgences produce mental and moral decay, so that they fall easy victims of more vigorous because more abstemious peoples. The civilizations of Babylon, Greece, Rome went that way.

"Third—The waltz, the first of the brood of modern round dances, originated in a Paris brothel, was adopted by high society in the corrupt times of Lord Byron, and was introduced into America soon after the French revolution. The tango emanated from the brothels of New York, the grizzly bear from the low Chinese dives of San Francisco and the turkey trot from New York Bowery tenebrion.

"Fourth—That the keepers of such resorts as assignation houses and houses of prostitution consider these dances their best business asset is attested by the fact that they invariably have a dance hall annex when permitted by law. For these dances furnish them with both their inmates and their patrons.

"Fifth—They breed adultery, fornication, drunkenness and misery, and they spread diseases which now threaten our race with decay and our nation with moral bankruptcy.

"Sixth—They constitute a snare to the innocent, a stumblingblock to the blind and a pitfall to the weak.

"Seventh—They erode modesty, murder innocence, and develop in the unmarried youth of both sexes passions which endanger health of body, virtue of soul and efficiency of mind."

The Morning Service.

At the tabernacle meeting this morning several made confession that they had been guilty of doing and winking at things that were wrong. The subject of Rev. Ham's sermon was "Faith, the Condition of Answered Prayer." His text was: "All things whatsoever ye desire, believe and ye shall have them." He paid his attention to church members who do not judge and confess all known sin, and assured them that the Bible was the only safe guide in reaching a conclusion as to what is sin and what shall be confessed. He gave four conditions for answered prayer and assured his audience that when they met these conditions they could even raise the dead. The four conditions of answered prayer were faith resting in the promises of God, the petitioner being right with God, a personal knowledge of God's Word as recorded in the Bible, and the judging and confession of all known sin.

CONCRETE BRIDGE AT BYNG NOW IN USE

O. N. Walker, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, J. W. Hays and a reporter for the News visited the site of the new Byng bridge across the Canadian river yesterday afternoon. The bridge is about two miles north of the Byng power plant.

The visitors found the new bridge in use. It was said by the road men that cars had been using it yesterday and it was ready for the use of all who want to take advantage of it. The only drawback to the bridge seems to be that when the water is up the logs and other rubbish stop when upon it and must be moved by travelers.

The river was up yesterday and a stretch of water about 100 feet wide was running over the structure. The water seemed to be very swift but a workman waded through without any mishap. It is said the river seldom ever goes higher than it was yesterday.

The bridge is nearly a quarter of a mile in length. It is made of solid concrete, the thickness from top to bottom being 12 inches. Beneath the concrete are the supports for the bridge to rest upon. The approaches to the bridge are so strong that it would be impossible for it to wash out of place at either end. The bridge cost the county in the neighborhood of $40,000. It is said to be much stronger than the bridge at Francis.

Workmen are still busy on the road on both sides of the river. About twenty-five men are at work on the Pontotoc side, in charge of Mr. Latimer. They are working in the Francis township, drawing their money from the Francis Township funds. The road all the way from Ada to the river is one of the best in the county.

While at Byng the visitors also went through the big Byng power plant. This is one of the greatest institutions in Pontotoc county. They have power now to supply current to no less than a dozen towns, and are adding more equipment to take care of a larger business. Mr. W. H. Butcher, superintendent of the plant, states that it will be November before they will have the plant completed. The towns at present being served by the big power plant are Roff, Lawrence, Byng, Konawa, Maud, Hario, Shawnee, McLoud and Prague. Other towns soon to be served are Seminole and Francis. The offices of the company are at Shawnee. The plant is owned by Wm. A. Behr & Co., of Chicago. They will have a 3000 horse power when the plant is completed.

It Belongs to the City.

It is nothing uncommon to see parks adorned with various plaques covering all phases of human action from "Keep Off the Grass" to "No Loafing Here," and to notice around the railway stations the usual "Look Out for the Cars," but for pure unadulterated insolence and a ruthless disregard for the wrong impression we might make on strangers stopping within our grates a signboard placed on East Main this morning is the highest card in the deck.

It seems from the testimony of business people in the Harris hotel block that at some date in the far remote past the city street sweepers gathered together a pile of refuse in front of the Phonograph Shop and for some reason saw fit to leave it there.

Growing tired of looking day after day at this same little dump (they say even a change in the shape or architectural design of the thing would have been welcome), some chap who has no regard either for public feelings or a perfectly nice little mound, which gives out nothing more offensive than the pungent fragrance of the barnyard, scrawled out a scratchy looking placard which read thus: "Stay Off! This Pile Belongs to the City." The idea!

Let a Want Ad get it for you.

government was maintaining friendly relations with the United States.

In reply to questions regarding the Mexican government's attitude toward American oil men, the ambassador said Carranza had not prohibited the drilling of wells, but only denied permits for wells unless certain prerequisites were agreed upon.

Fletcher submitted to the committee a list of about 250 names of persons supposed to be Americans murdered or outraged in Mexico since President Diaz retired from office. This list was prepared by the state department in response to a resolution by Senator King of Utah. It showed eleven persons killed this year.
